SUBJECT:

Continuing Oversight of Directives

The DCI Security Committee, through its subcommittee structure, has developed a number of policy and procedural directives to guide the Community on security matters. Updating of those directives usually has been done at the specific request of the SECOM Chairman. Henceforth, I will look to subcommittee chairmen to maintain continuing oversight of security directives for which they are responsible to ensure currency and consistency with requirements and evolving circumstances. I will expect subcommittee chairmen to undertake revisions of "their" directives on their own initiative as needed, and to keep the SECOM staff advised of such actions. A list of DCI security directives, standards and guides is attached, annotated to identify responsible subcommittees.
